

Deniz Sokullu

denizsokullu.com

dsokullu@andrew.cmu.edu

(412) 326 8948 - U.S. Citizen

Work Experience

Front End Developer

May - July 2016

Egegen Technology Solutions Inc.
Istanbul, Turkey

- Worked with PHP backend websites and developed new user experiences and templates for future projects using HTML/CSS with frameworks such as Bootstrap and Flexbox.
- Utilizing mobile-first design, created mockups and prototypes for clients. Tested websites for compatibility across browsers.

15-150 Teaching Assistant

2017 - Present

Carnegie Mellon University

- The teaching assistants for Functional Programming class were chosen according to their knowledge about the course material and skill at helping others learn difficult concepts and ideas.
- Led labs and lectures in addition to assisting students at office hours.

Technology Assistant

2015 - Present

Carnegie Mellon University

Assisted the management of the computer clusters around the School of Design, maintained and operated large sized printers and controlled the cluster network.

Activities

Web Developer, Designer

May 2016 - Present

Algorithms with a Purpose Coding Competition

Developed a website using Django for competitors to sign up and submit their code and run simulations and test about their performance. Worked on the branding and created a system of products.

Hackathon Mentor

September 2016

HackCMU 2016

Helped young hackers with their code and concepts throughout the hackathon.

Education

Carnegie Mellon University

Junior - Bachelor of Design

Minor in Computer Science

GPA: 3.0

Skills

Programming Languages

Python
HTML5/CSS3
Javascript
C, C# SML

Framework Experience

Django
Bootstrap/Flexbox
Unity
Node.js
React.js

Design

Adobe CC
Sketching
Prototyping